CareDx Demonstrates Global Leadership at 29th International Congress of The Transplantation Society

2022-09-12

Over 25 Abstracts Highlight Value of AlloSure and AlloSeq cfDNA

BRISBANE, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- CareDx, Inc. (Nasdaq: CDNA) – The Transplant Company™ focused on the discovery, development, and commercialization of clinically differentiated, high-value healthcare solutions for transplant patients and caregivers – today announced its leading participation in the 29th International Congress of The Transplantation Society (TTS 2022) taking place September 10-14 in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Transplant physicians will present data from over 25 abstracts demonstrating the value of AlloSure® donor-derived cell-free DNA (dd-cfDNA) and AlloSeq cfDNA in clinical practice, and emerging trends and innovation in transplantation, including artificial intelligence and the potential use of CareDx's molecular testing services for xenotransplantation surveillance.

"As the transplant innovation leader, CareDx is thrilled to expand its presence globally with data from over 25 abstracts being presented at this internationally renowned TTS congress," said Reg Seeto, CEO and President of CareDx. "We also look forward to sharing information about the next wave of innovation focused on the latest AiKidney™ and AiCAV™ developments."

Dr. Alexandre Loupy, Paris Transplant Group, added, "I look forward to attending the meeting and discussing how artificial intelligence is transforming patient care by helping physicians tailor plans based on a patient's risk profile for rejection and post-transplant complications."
